LUT PRIMO

- Using LUT Primo (primo.lut.fi) you'll find both Lappeenranta and Lahti print collection, and your university's electronic articles and books
- Sign in using your LUT username and password (HAKA login)
 - Get access to all the digital materials for your university
 - Renew your loans and make request (also from another campus)
- After the search, use the “tweak your results” menu on the right side of the page to narrow down search results
- Please see Guide to Primo search service for more tips and tricks
- AI search makes it possible to ask questions in natural language, but it does not cover all library materials

LUT PRIMO: FINDING PRINTED BOOKS

- Tweak your results to Books (Resource type).
- Choose Held by library under Availability.

The screenshot shows the LUT PRIMO search interface. The search bar contains the word "sustainability". Below the search bar, there are filters for "that contain my query words" and "anywhere in the record". The results are displayed in a list format, showing four books titled "Sustainability". The first book is by Portney, Kent E., author, 2015, and is "Available Online". The second book is by Cohen, Maurie J. kirjoittaja, 2021, and is "Not Available". The third book is by Portney, Kent E. kirjoittaja, 2015, and is "Available Online". The fourth book is by Wasieleski, David M., editor.; Weber, James, editor, 2020, and is "Available Online".

On the right side of the interface, there is a "Tweak your results" panel. It includes options to "Expand My Results", "Sort by" (set to Relevance), and "Availability". Under "Availability", the options are "Available online", "Peer-reviewed Journals", "Open Access", and "Held by library" (which is circled in green). Under "Resource Type", the options are "Articles (692,351)", "Newsletter Articles (314,128)", "Book Chapters (57,451)", "Magazine Articles (53,459)", "Newspaper Articles (42,118)", "Books (2,317)" (which is circled in green), "Conference Proceedings (19,811)", "Web Resources (18,877)", and "Reviews (11,729)".
